Martin is a naturally gifted intuitive Coach with a real passion for the profession and all aspects of behavioural change. His love of the work has taken him around the world for over 25 years, working with leaders, individuals, and teams searching for outcomes outside their current reach. His curious matter of fact nature and challenging yet empathetic style have him considered a trusted partner in his clients' journey of discovery and fulfilment.

Martin's corporate background as a EMEA regional director working within multinational organisations has given him a rich perspective on the complexity of client engagements and regional roles. Leading, managing, and coaching teams from different geographies, in search of a cohesive way forward. Finding innovative ways to produce results for his clients regardless of the situational context has been his hallmark of success.

He is much sought after as a strategic thinker and internationally experienced Coach and public speaker. From critical individuals in need of support, executives under pressure to business owners looking for a different perspective, he creates a space of psychological safety to allow their highest level of contribution and uniqueness to the surface and ultimately shine through.

As an impactful Coach, his work includes a wide variety of behavioural executive change programmes across sectors, including Banking, Retail, Pharmaceuticals, Information Technology, Retail, & Professional Services, for companies such as; PwC, KPMG; Morgan Stanley; GSK; Paramount; and Princess Trust.

He can thrive in the most challenging engagements as a trusted partner and associate, using his core skill of collaboration and facilitating difficult conversations regardless of complexity. His systemic approach means Martin routinely makes a difference by positively impacting all stakeholders.
